

RAISE YOUR HAND IF YOU WANT TO VOLUNTEER WITH RURAL VERMONT!

The purpose of Rural Vermont's volunteer program is to provide operational support and assist in outreach and advocacy efforts. Our volunteers are an integral part in our work towards achieving economic justice for Vermont farmers.

Rural Vermont needs your help! If you have some extra time on your hands and want to work with us to support living soils, thriving farms and healthy communities, please consider volunteering with us. We work with volunteers statewide to further our vision of Food with Dignity.

☞ Do you have 5 or 10 minutes?

Tell a friend or neighbor about Rural Vermont!

☞ Do you have 30 minutes?

Hang up posters for a local Rural Vermont event;
Scan your newspaper for news clips that mention us.

☞ How about an hour or two?

Hand out flyers for an upcoming event at your farmers' market; Work to promote an event in other ways; Help out with mailings at the office; Make invite or activist phone calls.

☞ Do you have an afternoon or evening free?

Staff the RV table at a conference or event; Help out at an event.

☞ Does a regular volunteer job sound up your alley?

Manage RV merchandise sales in your local stores; Become an outreach coordinator in your district; Provide administrative support at the office regularly or as-needed.

☞ Want to take on a project?

Host a film screening using one of the films in our library; Help with various research projects; Call or email to find out more about special projects.

For more information about any of these opportunities, contact Liz at (802) 223-7222 or liz@ruralvermont.org.

We want to work with you to figure out an arrangement that plugs you into something which matches your interests and schedule with our needs. To get the ball rolling, you could also download our volunteer survey from our website, fill it out and send it back, and Liz will get in touch with you soon.
